

AMANDA CONSTANTINE, AIAS

Lighting Designer I

Experience:

Amanda Constantine joined The Lighting Practice in 2016 while pursuing her Bachelor of Architecture degree at Drexel University. After graduation, she decided to continue her career in lighting design. Amanda's love of lighting began with her interest in using light to shape an atmosphere and draw attention to key aspects of a building or place. In her spare time, she enjoys hiking and exploring outdoors. Since joining TLP, her project experience has expanded to include corporate, education, retail, site and exterior lighting.

Education:

Bachelor of Architecture, Drexel University

Professional Activities & Organizations:

- American Institute of Architecture Students - Member