

SARAH LURIE

Designer

Experience:

Sarah Lurie joined The Lighting Practice in 2022 as a Designer. Sarah graduated from New York University Tisch School of Design with a degree in Theatrical Lighting. In previous roles, she worked in theatrical lighting design and site specific light art installations. In her role as a Designer at The Lighting Practice, Sarah will work on a variety of projects, coordinating with allied team members, performing documentation of design, completing construction administration tasks and more. Since 2017, Sarah has worked as an Adjunct Faculty member at New York University, teaching Lighting Design ITP Standards and special seminars. In her free time, Sarah enjoys hiking, backpacking, biking, climbing and gardening.

Education:

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Theatrical Lighting Design, New York University Tisch School of Arts